Keep It Real.....

The explanation of jobs for promoting the fossil fuel industry is a lie.

http://blog.nwf.org/2017/01/new-york-to-build-nations-second-and-largest-offshore-wind-power-project/?s_email_id=20170218_MEM_ENG_WLO_February_Edition|STAct

Clean, renewable and sustainable energy development will extend into the future, jobs with a living wage in local communities. A grid using a local system will be less exposed to outages due to weather, accident, and terrorism.

Injustice isn't fought by those who profit from it---<http://celdf.org/2017/02/celdf-blog-worried-about-scotus-nominee-neil-gorsuch-remember-movements-dont-begin-and-end-at-the-supreme-court-steps/> -- The struggle between good and evil may be subjective, but the strength is knowing oneself sufficiently to stand in confidence on principle.

An example below-----

-----Which is the greater threat to democracy?

Fossil fuels add to the Climate Change that produce weather patterns harmful to humanity and nature. Fossil fuels are obsolete. The following details the complicated social manipulations that cause short-sighted local communities to act in ways that are not in their best interest, and surely not in the interest of their children and grandchildren----

Corruption is use of money to allow unprincipled behavior.

A realistic acknowledgment of the impact of imperialism is necessary, and not easy to come across in either governmental transparency or corporate-owned mainstream media---<http://www.post-gazette.com/news/world/2017/02/15/The-United-States-used-depleted-uranium-in-Syria/stories/201702150083>

Poisoning of local communities around the Globe has been posited as collateral damage; and not surprisingly, this imperialistic process has come back around to application upon local U. S. communities.

Excuses are made by use of chemicals in warfare--- http://www.au.af.mil/au/awc/awcgate/dod/du_factsheet_4aug98.htm

The impact is still on people, a fact The Military-Industrial Complex seems not to acknowledge.

But what is the excuse for the ubiquitous use of chemicals in the local communities in the U. S., many of which are never divulged by using the excuse of proprietary industrial information----

Attack on local communities by commercial process has been relentless. Many local community members are aware, and standing in defense of human rights and environmental rights that are violated by the lack of transparency and the corruption of local governmental officials who may profit by cronyism that is a part of running government like a business.

Because local governments instruct local law enforcement, the democratic action of local community members standing in defense of their rights, can be positioned as illegal, disrupting to community, or simply attacked by sheer intimidation.

This is a reason that some peaceful, patriotic and concerned people are suspicious about the new drive by government that is so entangled with commercial interests, to exaggerate the need for extraordinary protection of law enforcement against what is quite often peaceful protest. Such exaggeration may be that of NYS District 52 Senator Akshar---<http://www.evesun.com/news/stories/2017-02-06/26031/Senator-Akshar-announces-Community-Heroes-Protection-Act/>

Of concern is the fact that Senator Akshar seems to have been chosen by Broome County Sheriff Harder to run for office, even though a large number of local residents threw their hats into the ring, after the guilty verdict of Senator Libous denied District 52 of his representation, so to speak. Sheriff Harder had moonlighted for industry, as reported by the Press & Sun Bulletin, and Akshar's impressive war chest immediately after he was drawn from the position of Sheriffs Deputy to run, suggests he wasn't knocking on doors or running town halls to urge individuals to contribute to his campaign.

In the end, the people attempting to retain a semblance of democracy, equality, justice and the pursuit of happiness are requesting open discussion on the subject of use of inordinate power turned on those local communities by government/commerce.

One surely wishes no harm to anyone. But the time is long past for the recognition of the use of privilege to harm the health of the U. S. local communities.

<http://www.revolutiontruth.org/community> -- Tangerine Borden tells of a lawsuit brought and won against the Obama Administration, in an effort to support civil rights. The first one heard of this was on the above presentation of Redacted Tonight that aired on 2/16/2017.

One understands the propaganda value that motivates Russian TV to broadcast news of militarized law enforcement used against peaceful U. S. communities standing in defense of human rights and environmental rights; but this approach could be short-circuited by a Free Press in the U. S.----

So what do diverse groups articulating a rainbow of differing demands have in common? One suggests it is democracy, justice, equality and governance of, by and for The People. And so that these diverse groups are standing in Solidarity under these values is appropriate---

It's not about voter fraud, which seems to be rare. It is about rigged elections. Rigged by whom? Perhaps the political parties against which no less an authority than President Washington in his Farewell Address warned the U. S. public. Demand of your legislators attention to these matters, rather than creating red herrings to change the subject----

Corporate-owned mainstream media pundits didn't give coverage to Presidential Candidates Bernie Sanders or Jill Stein. This is in keeping with their propaganda in favor of capitalism. Jill Stein continues to actively work for democracy----A workshop is offered----Philadelphia, Pa., localities---
